Cornerstone to save 707 Walnut site

Home was built by major underground railroad conductor

BY BOB DEMAREE

A house of historic significance at 707 Walnut Street that appeared headed for demolition has been purchased by Cornerstone Society with plans for restoration, Jan Vetrhus announced at Monday's meeting of Madison's Board of Public Works and Safety (BPWS).

Vetrhus, president of the board of directors for the Eleutherian College and a Cornerstone board member, had previously reported that the structure had been discovered to be the actual property of William Anderson, one of the major underground railroad conductors in Madison and the nation based on information Vetrhus said has been confirmed by tax and title records.

Now that Cornerstone Society is owner of the property, Vetrhus said Link Ludington, president of Cornerstone, and Ron Bateman, a member of Indiana Landmarks, have been able to go inside the house to further determine its historical significance along with Dr. Darrin Rubino, a faculty member at Hanover College who is a forest ecologist.

Rubino, who Ludington said is "one of the nation's foremost authorities on dendochronology analysis and data" was able to study wood decay. Ludington said Rubino should be able to determine the exact date of construction from the samples he was able to obtain at the house.

"What we're looking at is a three-room house built in the late 1840s," said Ludington, who added that while "the condition

It's flu shot time

Seniors need boosted vaccines

BY LAURAN NEERGAARD
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Doctors have a message for vaccine-weary Americans: Don't skip your flu shot this fall — and seniors, ask for a special extra-strength kind.

After flu hit historically low levels during the COVID-19 pandemic, it may be poised for a comeback. The main clue: A nasty flu season just ended in Australia.

While there's no way to predict if the U.S. will be as hard-hit, "last year we were going into flu season not knowing if flu was around or not. This year we know flu is back," said influenza specialist Richard Webby of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis.

Annual flu shots are recommended starting with 6-month-old babies. Flu is most dangerous for people 65 and older, young children, pregnant women and people with certain health problems including heart and lung diseases.

Here's what to know:

REVVED-UP SHOTS FOR SENIORS

As people get older, their immune system doesn't respond as strongly to standard flu vaccination. This year, people 65 or older are urged to get a special kind for extra protection.

There are three choices. Fluzone High-Dose and Flublok each contain higher doses of the main anti-flu ingredient. The other option is Fluad Adjuvanted, which has a regular dosage but contains a special ingredient that helps boost people's immune response.

Seniors can ask what kind their doctor carries. But most flu vaccinations are given in pharmacies and some drugstore websites, such as CVS,

Community Foundation announces $298,328 in grants

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A total of $298,328 has been awarded in grants to 21 Jefferson County nonprofit organizations by the Community Foundation of Madison and Jefferson County during its 2022 competitive grant cycle.

The annual competitive grant awards are made possible by the Community Foundation's Flexible Community Funds and Field of Interest Endowment Funds. For funding consideration, agencies submitted an online application which was then reviewed by the Foundation's Grants Committee.

"Our committee was asked for more than twice the amount that we had available to grant," said CFMJC President and CEO Bill Barnes. "It is an honor to have a committee that is dedicated to the process. It's a challenging task to determine the best investment of grant dollars available from the generosity of the Community Foundation's donors."

Grant winners for 2022 include:

- Children's Advocacy Center of Southeastern Indiana to provide a safety and abuse prevention program to schools in Madison and Jefferson County.
- City of Madison to support the restoration of the Oak Hill Subdivision Park playground equipment.
- Developmental Services Inc. to support the purchase of Smartboards for client use.
- Englishton Park Presbyterian Ministries Inc. to support the replacement of the above-ground pool utilized by the summer camp students.

The incident began when a KSP Trooper Jordan Votaw stopped a 2012 Dodge Challenger in the area of the 26-mile marker on Interstate 71 after observing a traffic infraction at approximately 1:37 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 2

Alex Lamar Foster

Over the course of the traffic stop the drover was identified as Alex Lamar Foster, 29, of Louisville, who it was determined had two active warrants out of Jefferson County, Kentucky, including the murder and handgun by a convicted felon charges.

In addition to the warrants, Foster was charged with Speeding-15 MPH Over the Limit, No Registration Plates, Theft of Identity of Another Without Consent, Operating A Motor Vehicle Under the Influence of Alcohol/Substances, Failure to Wear Seat Belts and Operating on Suspended or Revoked Operator License.

The investigation is ongoing and being conducted by Kentucky State Police Post 5 at Campbellsburg, Kentucky.

Bridge rehab work to continue this week

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Bridge rehabilitation work on State Road 56 and State Road 250 in Ohio and Switzerland counties will continue this week with temporary signals to control traffic.

Indiana Department of Transportation contractor Enneking Pressure Cleaning will continue work on deck overlays at three locations: State Road 56 over Laughery Creek, State Road 56 over Arnold Creek and State Road 250 over Wade Creek.

The contractor is expected to remove restrictions on the State Road 56 bridge over Arnold Creek as early as Tuesday and move to the State Road 250 bridge over Wade Creek near Patriot in Switzerland County. The bridge is located just west of State Road 156 and will be reduced to one lane with temporary traffic signals. This is the third and final bridge on the contract.

The contract was awarded to Enneking in August 2022. All three locations are expected to be complete by mid-to-late October. All work is weather-dependent and schedules are subject to change.

STATE ROAD 56 WORK POSTPONED

Meanwhile, an upcoming road closure on State Road 56 in Scott County has now been postponed until next year.

The 30-day closure was originally scheduled to begin on Monday, October 3, to allow crews to complete a box culvert replacement project. That project has now been delayed and a new start date will be announced once the new schedule has been finalized.

is deplorable, as it turns out, the structure is what we expected it to be."

Ludington said the priority now is to stabilize the house while also making the area safe, and then apply for a dilapidated structures PACE grant to work toward a rehabilitation restoration. "I think we're going to be able to put together a reasonable and plausible restoration and construction plan, and try to preserve as much as possible of the original fabric."

However, Ludington noted that due to deterioration at the property over the last 40 years, the work will also require significant replacement with modern materials but that "because of the historical, social and cultural significance we felt it's worth the effort."

Ludington said Cornerstone plans to restore the portion of the structure that is the original three-room house with the property then sold for use as a residence with historic preservation covenants.

"We have a plan in place to make that a desirable asset to that neighborhood," Ludington said.

"There is going to be a lot of support for this project on the state and federal levels" Bateman added, noting the intention is that the project will be done right with regular progress reports to the city. "Thank you Mayor, thank you to the board for giving us a chance to do this" because of the historical significance "it's worth doing."

Mayor Bob Courtney said what Cornerstone plans to do with the house is exactly what the city wants. "We want to revitalize that corridor. It's not through demolition but it's through restoration and preservation" with a "methodical approach to unsafe structures and to create a plan of action. That's the ultimate goal."

Courtney noted that throughout the city there are properties that are "deteriorating from neglect with no plan. We have programs and people and we can really start addressing the worst of the worst."

Later in Monday's meeting, an unsafe structure update was provided by Duey O'Neal, the city's code enforcement officer, and Landon Ralston, the building inspector.

O'Neal said 85 structures have been identified as neglected with 11 cited as unsafe along with nine others in which they have reached out to the property owners that the structure is potentially unsafe, but have not yet heard back from them. There are five in which demolition permits have been issued with two of those in progress.

Ralston said there have been 16 properties determined as priorities in which there needs to be action.

One of the properties of concern is at 302 West Street, which BPWS member Karl Eaglin said was a concern because "it's a high traffic area" with a danger from that building. The city has not been permitted to inspect the building; however, so there was discussion about taking court action to gain access to the structure for inspection.

"We would have to show cause" to be able to do that, said city attorney Joe Jenner. He noted that "next to children, the right to own problems fall in the sacred rights area. And it's as it should be very difficult for the government to come in and implore their resources on somebody's property" because "that's what the Constitution says and it's the right thing to do."

Courtney said that doesn't prevent the city from pursuing the right course when it feels there is an unsafe structure that could create a health or safety risk for everyone around it. "As Joe said, it's meant to be hard, it's meant to be very intentional but it doesn't mean we should wait 20 to 30 years to take action" when it's evident that inadequate steps are being taken to make the property safe.

Near the end of the meeting, Elizabeth Humes appeared in reference to a notice she had received in reference to 709 Elm Street, the house where the Humes family raised 12 children — several known for their athletic skills with the Madison Cubs including 1962 Mr. Basketball Larry Humes.

Humes said she had not received any previous letters concerning the property, and would have responded if she had received them.

Cornerstone and Indiana Landmark recently provided assistance in getting the home cleaned out.

"We've been trying to figure out ways we can help with this restoration so that it is livable," said Vetrhus, noting efforts have been made to reach out for help. "This is a typical example of someone who wants to do the right thing but doesn't have the money and the funds aren't currently available. We haven't figured out a way to do it yet, but this is a very important property to the history of Madison, so we want to make sure the Humes house is saved and it can actually be lived in again."

Courtney suggested that by working with Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning, along with O'Neal and Ralston a plan can be developed for the Humes home. The mayor encouraged additional collaboration between the city and historic preservation groups.

"I'd love to come to the next Cornerstone meeting and give a presentation about how we can partner and work together, and identify our most endangered properties," Courtney said. "Not all of them are the most endangered but there are some, and we can't treat all of them as if they have the same priority, because they're going to continue to get worse and worse, and we need to address the worst of the worst, and the best of the most historic ... we can start aligning all the metrics then we can work together and create a plan."

Webby advised making sure older relatives and friends know about the senior shots, in case they're not told when they seek vaccination.

"They should at least ask, 'Do you have the shots that are better for me?' " Webby said. "The bottom line is they do work better" for this age group.

If a location is out of senior-targeted doses, it's better to get a standard flu shot than to skip vaccination, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

All flu vaccines in the U.S. — including types for people younger than 65 — are "quadrivalent," meaning they guard against four different flu strains.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Oct. 4, 1957, the Space Age began as the Soviet Union launched Sputnik 1, the first artificial satellite, into orbit.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1777, Gen. George Washington's troops launched an assault on the British at Germantown, Pennsylvania, resulting in heavy American casualties.

In 1887, the International Herald Tribune had its beginnings as the Paris Herald, a European edition of the New York Herald.

In 1940, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini conferred at Brenner Pass in the Alps.

In 1965, Pope Paul VI became the first pope to visit the Western Hemisphere as he addressed the U.N. General Assembly.

In 1990, for the first time in nearly six decades, German lawmakers met in the Reichstag for the first meeting of reunified Germany's parliament.

In 1991, 26 nations, including the United States, signed the Madrid Protocol, which imposed a 50-year ban on oil exploration and mining in Antarctica.

In 2001, a Russian airliner flying from Israel to Siberia was accidentally downed by a Ukrainian anti-aircraft missile over the Black Sea, killing all 78 people aboard. Barry Bonds of the San Francisco Giants hit his 70th home run to tie Mark McGwire's 1998 record in a 10-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

In 2002, "American Taliban" John Walker Lindh received a 20-year sentence after a sobbing plea for forgiveness before a federal judge in Alexandria, Virginia. (He was released from prison in May, 2019.) In a federal court in Boston, a laughing Richard Reid pleaded guilty to trying to blow up a trans-Atlantic flight with explosives in his shoes (the British citizen was later sentenced to life in prison).

In 2004, the SpaceShipOne rocket plane broke through Earth's atmosphere to the edge of space for the second time in five days, capturing the $10 million Ansari X prize aimed at opening the final frontier to tourists. Pioneering astronaut Gordon Cooper died in Ventura, California, at age 77.

In 2010, the Supreme Court began a new era with three women serving together for the first time as Elena Kagan took her place at the end of the bench.

In 2020, infected and contagious, President Donald Trump briefly ventured out in an SUV from the hospital where he was being treated for COVID-19 to salute cheering supporters. Trump's medical team reported that his blood oxygen level had dropped suddenly twice in recent days and that they gave him a steroid typically only recommended for the very sick; doctors said he had also been given oxygen before being hospitalized.

Ten years ago: A day after his first debate with Mitt Romney, which had been widely seen as a victory for Romney, President Barack Obama suggested that his Republican rival hadn't been candid about his policy positions during the faceoff. The Nielsen Co. said an estimated 67.2 million people had watched the debate; it was the biggest TV audience for a presidential debate since 1992.

Five years ago: Four U.S. soldiers were killed in the African country of Niger (nee-ZHEHR') when a joint patrol of U.S. and Niger forces was ambushed by militants who were believed linked to the Islamic State group. President Donald Trump visited hospital bedsides and a police base in Las Vegas in the aftermath of the shooting rampage three nights earlier that left 58 people dead.

One year ago: A massive global outage knocked Facebook and its Instagram and WhatsApp platforms offline for hours due to what Facebook called a "faulty configuration change"; there were no signs that malicious activity was involved. The Biden administration reversed a Trump-era ban on abortion referrals by federally-funded family planning clinics. Supreme Court justices returned to the courtroom for the start of a new term after a nearly 19-month absence because of the coronavirus pandemic. China flew 56 fighter planes toward Taiwan, continuing three days of military harassment against the self-ruled island. A federal Drug Enforcement Administration agent, Michael Garbo, was shot and killed while questioning a passenger on an Amtrak train in Tucson, Arizona; the passenger who opened fire was then killed in a gunfight with other officers.

In 1958, racially-desegregated Clinton High School in Clinton, Tennessee, was mostly leveled by an early morning bombing.

In 1994, 48 people were found dead in an apparent murder-suicide carried out simultaneously in two Swiss villages by members of a secret religious doomsday cult known as the Order of the Solar Temple; five other bodies were found the same week in a building owned by the sect near Montreal, Canada.

In 2001, tabloid photo editor Robert Stevens died from inhaled anthrax, the first of a series of anthrax cases in Florida, New York, New Jersey and Washington.

In 2005, defying the White House, senators voted 90-9 to approve an amendment sponsored by Republican Sen. John McCain that would prohibit the use of "cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment" against anyone in U.S. government custody. (A reluctant President George W. Bush later signed off on the amendment.)

California Gov. Jerry Brown signed legislation extending protections for immigrants living in the United States illegally; police in California would be barred from asking people about their immigration status or taking part in federal immigration enforcement activities.

One year ago: A former Facebook employee, data scientist Frances Haugen, told a Senate panel that the company knew that its platform spread misinformation and content that harmed children, but that it refused to make changes that could hurt its profits. # Hanover writes off uncollectible accounts

BY BOB DEMAREE

Hanover Town Council did some house cleaning at its meeting last week by writing off outstanding water, sewer and trash accounts under $200 that have been past due for at least six months and are considered uncollectible.

That includes $820.34 in water and trash accounts and $1,352.80 in sewer accounts for a total of $2,173.14.

Clerk-treasurer Keith Mefford attributed the outstanding bills to residents who have moved away along with bad addresses and returned mail. He said the accounts include past due bills where efforts to contact have gone on more than a year and noted much of problem will be eliminated now that the town has increased its deposit fee from $100 to $200 because more past due accounts will be covered by initial deposits.

In other business:

• Debby Sellers and Jeannie Sellers approached the Council with concerns about vehicles parking on Sharon Drive and Locust Street for school activities, including school dropoffs and pickups and school events.

"When they block it, you can't get in or out," Debby Sellers said.

Council President Kenny Garrett said the town needs to investigate what it can be done to alleviate the problem along with discussing the issue with Southwestern school officials.

• Approved a salary ordinance that establishes ranges of compensation for newly created town positions to include parks department event coordinator, parks maintenance and groundskeeper, wastewater plant operator and parks electrical workers and laborers.

• Tentatively endorsed spending up to $7,000 from the parks donation fund, pending donor approval, for replacement of two light poles on Field 3 at Hanover Community Park. Mefford said the new light poles were needed due to the poor condition of two poles of which one was severely rotted. Mefford recommended getting both replaced as soon as possible for safety reasons. The poles will cost $2,100 each plus the additional cost of concrete, installation and labor.

• Approved $13,371.40 for upgrades to the sewer plant buildings including metal roofs and improvements in drainage.

Southwestern, Alderman run to success

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

With six freshmen running in its top seven, Southwestern girls cross country was by far the youngest squad competing at Saturday's Ohio River Valley Conference cross country championships at Hanover College. But just because the Rebels are young, doesn't mean they're not talented.

The young Rebels ran away with an easy win to claim the conference championship by beating runner-up Switzerland County by 13 points and place four runners — all freshmen — on the all-conference team.

Shawe senior Calli Alderman won the girls individual championship by 15 seconds over rival Claire Rogers of Switzerland County for her first title since her sophomore year and third overall after running second in 2021. On the boys side, Milan posted a dominating win with the Indian's Ben Riehle bringing home the individual title.

No Southwestern girl challenged for the individual title, but as the Rebels started crossing the finish line, it became quickly evident they were packed tightly enough up front to seize the team championship.

Freshman Olivia Simpson led the charge with a fourth-place finish in 21:12.3 while fellow freshman Tori Gammons was sixth in 22:01.2. Two more freshmen, Kinsten Long and Addison Nussbaum, ran ninth and 11th, respectively, with Long coming in at 22:56.4 and Nussbaum at 23:41.4.

Freshman Kaylee Renschler rounded out Southwestern's scoring with a 17th-place finish in 25:27.2. Junior Claudia Oliver, the only non-freshman on the squad, placed 18th in 25:29.7 and freshman Riley Zellers was 10th on 25:53.8.

"I believe this is our 10th conference championship since I started coaching, but I'm not going to lie, having my daughter and her friends on this team makes this one a little more special," Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum said. "To have four freshman on the all-conference team and all freshman in the top five shows how special this team can be. We have a couple of eighth graders that were all-conference in middle school that will come in and help to really push these girls. If we can keep this team together and keep everyone healthy, the sky is the limit for this group."

Alderman lost the ORVC title to Rogers a year ago and trailed the Switzerland sophomore after 2,000 meters Saturday. But as she has done her entire career, Alderman kicked late, making her pass at the midway point and pulling away for the victory in 20:26.1. Rogers ran second in 20:42.2.

Switzerland senior Grace White finished fifth in 21:43.0 to earn all-conference honors while sophomore Amber Detmer was 13th in 24:23.8, missing all-conference by one position. Ashlyn Covington was 16th in 25:16.6 and Aruzhan Tasbolatova was 24th in 28:22.0.

Shawe finished fifth with 95 points. The rest of the Hilltoppers' times were: Kristyna Vaskova, 14th, 24:42.4; Cassidy Nott, 25th, 30:38.7; Yolett Perez, 30th, 32:51.6; and Berkeley Neuman, 31st, 35:42.6.

There was little drama on the boys side as Milan had three of the top four runners to easily win the conference crown. Milan's Ben Riehle was the overall winner in 17:04.7.

Switzerland County's Cooper Hon broke up Milan's lead pack with a second-place finish in 17:10.2 while Nathan Furnish was sixth in 18:26.1 to join Hon on the all-conference team. The rest of the Pacers' times were: Cale Collier, 14th, 19:12.9; Luke Sullivan, 23rd, 19:57.8; Dylan Sullivan, 26th, 20:16.0; Kadyn Riley, 35th, 21:23.3; Derek Hoskins, 38th, 22:35.2; and Canaan Johnson, 45th, 24:44.6.

Southwestern's Joe Drossart and Caden Ream each earned all-conference. Drossart placed fifth in 18:21.7 and Ream was 10th in 18:41.6. The rest of the Rebels were: Connor Johnson, 16th, 19:23.6; Landon Higgins, 17th, 19:24.1; Braylin Miller, 31st, 20:39.7; Caleb Seals, 34th, 21:09.6; Alex Hitchcock, 37th, 22:22.6; Jonas Gabriel, 39th, 22:48.8; Ashton Crumley, 42nd, 23:36.2; Elliot Brooks, 44th, 24:28.6; Christian Kelley, 47th, 25:05.4; and Gage Pennington, 48th, 26:40.4.

Shawe's Sam Fewell ran ninth in 18:41.3 to earn all-conference and the Hilltoppers' Wyatt Lundergan was 27th in 20:16.1.

Team scores in the girls event were: Southwestern, 44; Switzerland Co., 57; Rising Sun, 70; South Ripley, 92; Shawe, 95; and Jac-Cen-Del, 134.

Team scores in the boys race were: Milan, 26; Switzerland Co., 68; Southwestern, 74; South Ripley, 82; Rising Sun, 87; and Jac-Cen-Del, 142.

All local teams will next compete in the IHSAA Sectional at Hardy Lake on Saturday. The race begins at 11 a.m.

Madison offense struggles in 41-7 loss at Cooper

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Cooper's Jaguars did all of their damage in the first half, scoring six touchdowns to roll to a 41-7 win over Madison at home on Friday in football.

The Jaguars scored on their first six possessions with only a missed extra-point marring a perfect first half.

Trailing 41-0 and facing a running clock, Madison was able to get on the scoredboard when James Schafer took the third-quarter kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown and Clint Hearne provided the extra point to close out the scoring 41-7.

Madison was held to just 68 yards total offense in the game. Van Skinner had rushed for 44 yards on 12 attempts for the majority of that total.

The Cubs, now 3-4 on the season, host Bedford North Lawrence (4-3) on Friday.

PACERS ROLL OVER DECATUR

Switzerland County shook off an early deficit to post a 33-7 football win over South Decatur on Friday at home.

The Pacers trailed 7-0 after the first quarter but got a 44-yard scoring run by Matthew Davis and a two-point conversion run from Tyler Hoskins to take an 8-7 lead into halftime.

Switzerland then dominated the second half, getting a 32-yard touchdown run by Davis and three scoring runs by Hoskins — 59, 3 and 57 yards — plus two extra points from Levi Goldsberry and two from Cooper Todd to blow open the game.

"I was extremely proud of how my boys responded in the second half and limited their mistakes while capitalizing on those of our opponent," Switzerland coach Ryan Jesop said. "Tyler Hoskins ran the ball harder and with more passion than I have seen in many years. The holes opened up by our offensive linemen in the second half helped blow the game wide open. Our defense also made the necessary adjustments after the first quarter to make big stops and limit our opponent from running the ball effectively."

Hoskins finished with 164 yards rushing on 11 attempts while Davis had 104 yards on eight attempts. Overall, the Switzerland defense limited South Decatur to just 61 yards.

Switzerland, now 4-3 on the season, hosts Class A No. 4 North Decatur (7-0) on Friday.

CARROLL FALLS TO WALTON-VERONA

Carroll County saw its three-game winning streak snapped with a 28-26 Class 2A District 5 loss at home to Walton-Verona on Friday.

The two teams traded touchdowns throughout the game with Walton-Verona taking a 28-20 lead on a 41-yard run by quarterback Jackson Smith late in the third quarter.

Carroll had two successive drives stopped by turnovers but scored in the fourth quarter to pull within two. However, the Panthers were unable to get the two-point conversion and ended up taking the two-point loss.

Carroll finished with 288 total yards — 234 of that through the air — while Walton (5-2, 2-0 district) had 329 total yards with 297 of that on the ground.

Carroll, now 3-4 overall and 1-1 district play, travels to Trimble County (3-3, 1-1 district) on Friday. Trimble is coming off a bye week.

After Burrow says relax, Bengals knock out 2 wins

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — After Cincinnati lost the first two games of the season, Joe Burrow told everyone to relax. The Bengals would turn it around, the star quarterback promised.

Maybe feeding off the out-sized confidence of their leader, the Bengals reeled off two wins in the span of five days, including Thursday night's 27-15 triumph over the Miami Dolphins in front a record home crowd.

Burrow said the team looked at the quick Sunday-Thursday turnaround as an opportunity "to get that ugly taste out of our mouth" from the first two sloppy losses to Pittsburgh and Dallas.

Done.

"Then we have a long weekend to enjoy, get our bodies right, eat some good food, watch some football, enjoy the weekend and come back at it," he said.

The third-year quarterback gave much of the credit to the offensive line, which got four new starters before the season and was slow to develop chemistry in the first two games when Burrow was sacked a combined 13 times.

Burrow was sacked twice in Sunday's win over the New York Jets and just once by Miami on Thursday. Plus, he had time for throw for 287 yards and two touchdowns against the Dolphins.

"Those guys really work hard to have a game like that," Burrow said. "They took a lot of heat the first two weeks, but they are getting better and better. The protection was awesome (Thursday) and that's the way it will be going forward."

Coach Zac Taylor was more effusive than usual after the Miami game.

"We got a great team, man. I love this team. I love everything about them," Taylor said. "They didn't hesitate for one second those first two weeks when all the noise was getting loud, the expectations, all that. They didn't allow that to affect them for one second. They just came out there and answered the bell for two consecutive weeks."

The game was marred by the sight of Miami quarterback Tua Tagovailoa being stretchered off the field after being sacked in the second quarter. The team said he had a concussion and would be evaluated further in Miami.

WHAT'S WORKING

The passing game, for sure. Burrow had some miscues early but then zeroed in. Notable was a perfect pass to Ja'Marr Chase for 36 yards that set up the Bengals at the Miami 6 with three minutes remaining in the game. Three plays later, Burrow tossed a 2-yard TD pass to Hayden Hurst to make it a two-score game.

WHAT NEEDS HELP

The Bengals left a lot of points on the field. Burrow's fourth-quarter hook-up with Tyler Boyd picked up 43 yards and put the Bengals on the Miami 6 with a new set of downs. But Joe Mixon ran the ball three straight times and couldn't get in, so Cincinnati had to settle for an Evan McPherson field goal. McPherson booted a 57-yarder later in the fourth when another drive stalled. In the second quarter, the Bengals decided to go for it on fourth-and-1 on the Dolphins 24, but Mixon was stopped cold and the ball turned over on downs.

STOCK UP

Tee Higgins had his best game of the season, catching seven of his nine targets for 124 yards, including a 59-yard TD. ... Safety Vonn Bell had two interceptions. He picked off Teddy Bridgewater in the fourth quarter set up the scoring drive that wrapped it up for Cincinnati.

STOCK DOWN

Mixon is running the ball hard, but he and the O-line haven't been able break him into the secondary for longer gains. He carried 24 times for 61 yards, an average of 2 1/2-yards per touch. His longest run was 7 yards.

INJURIES

TE Devin Asiasi left in the second half with an ankle injury. There was no update on his condition.

KEY NUMBER

Plus-5 — Cincinnati's turnover margin in the last two games.

NEXT STEPS

The Bengals will have some extra time to rest and recover before going on the road to play AFC North rival Baltimore Ravens on Oct. 9.

HANOVER ROUNDUP

Parents outraged that daughter is with married man

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: After six years of marriage to our 33-year-old daughter "Karen," our son-in-law decided that he was in love with the woman with whom he'd been having an affair during three years of their marriage.

Last summer Karen filed for divorce and moved back home.

The problem? For several months, Karen has been dating a married man!

We are beside ourselves with disappointment, and her father is outraged.

He feels that Karen is no better than her former husband.

He has condemned Karen's actions, telling her that she is morally wrong (I don't disagree) and that the man she is with is a lying, cheating, lowlife.

Now this man and his wife have announced that they are expecting a baby, further outraging my husband.

Karen claims that they have something special. He obviously is still in his marriage, and yet Karen defends him.

Why would our smart and talented daughter settle for sloppy seconds and have an affair with a married man whose wife is pregnant?

We are so ashamed — how do we cope?

— Ashamed Parents

Dear Ashamed: You've already judged your daughter. Your husband has expressed his disgust loudly and repeatedly.

Now the way for you to cope is to buck up and realize that you did not raise a saint.

If your daughter lives with you, it would be best for her to move out. If she is not in your household, you won't be quite so tempted to monitor and react to her behavior.

You don't know why she is doing this. I don't know why she is doing this. I think it's possible that she also doesn't quite know why she has made this choice.

I suggest that you convey to her: "You know how we feel about your decisions, which we believe are setting you back. We hope that you will choose to behave ethically. But we also understand that this is your life, and the consequences will be yours to bear."

Retirees wrangle over the true cost of love

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My wife and I are both retirees.

We have been together for a total of 32 years.

All of our retirement income goes into a shared bank account.

About six months ago, out of the blue my wife told me that she wanted a divorce.

She explained that due to reasons having to do with money, she felt she had lost her autonomy.

It seems she wants to have her own bank account and withdraw $400 a month to go into her personal slush fund to do with as she wishes.

I have said that since the money comes out of our retirement funds that it makes no sense for her to have her own personal account.

Is love worth $400 a month, or is there a deeper issue here?

— Disappointed

Dear Disappointed: This is not about the cost — or value — of "love."

This is about control.

You don't provide any details regarding your finances, although your wording suggests that all of your joint income (presumably from pension earnings and Social Security) goes into a shared account, which you seem to control.

Why do I think you control these funds? Because your wife has gone to the mat trying to get some money that she alone would have to use as she wishes.

It isn't at all clear whether you two can afford to grant each of you money of your own to spend as you wish. But if you can afford it then yes, you should each have funds of your own that you can choose to save or spend.

And if you can't afford for you each to receive $400 a month, then you should negotiate a smaller amount that you can afford.

Money is important. And choices regarding money are often placeholders for other issues in the relationship. So yes, I suspect that there is a deeper issue here.

You two could work on this with the valuable help of a mediator. Mediators work with relationship counselors to help couples come to terms with issues affecting their future, including the choice to part company, if it comes to that.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — It might be better to resist the new and unproven in favor of sticking to routines. Now is not the time to give way to your impulses and change your approach. Follow through on a commitment to a friend or to help out at a community function.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Act on sound business principles rather than on a random impulse. Although you would like to attain financial security, this might be a better time to conserve your resources or to unite with other people.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — An enthusiastic hands-on approach will tend to pull interesting people into your orbit. Even if it seems like you may spend some time spinning your wheels, you might meet someone or find a group who can offer mentorship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You are likely the center of someone's universe, but not everyone's. Communication about your feelings and goals may be the route to someone's heart. A bid for support may be missed by a family member.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Work to build self-confidence and set boundaries on emotional outpourings. Networking with social contacts might give you an opportunity to meet people who share your goals and enjoy similar activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Never reveal confidential information you are asked to safeguard. It may be entertaining to dig deep into a new hobby or pastime. Watch your spending because you may be persuaded to buy something of doubtful value.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — It may be difficult to be frank about confidential personal information. Your trustworthiness and commitment could be questioned. You might get off on the wrong foot if you oppose the wishes of loved ones.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Those who dig for the facts have a better shot at finding them. Instead of using the facts solely to your advantage, find a way to apply them that uplifts everyone. Tap your inner wisdom and clarity for guidance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Insist on receiving an honest answer. Pleasant platitudes and casual assurances sound nice to the ear, but you deserve to know where someone stands on an issue. Focus on achieving financial security.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Make a wish if the genie is out of the bottle. You may be in control of a situation and less vulnerable once disclosures are recognized. Knuckle down to a task and concentrate on making concrete progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Your friends and acquaintances might enjoy physical exercise, outdoor activities or competitive situations. You can exercise enough self-discipline to complete your tasks despite frequent interruptions.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Make sure you bring sufficient attention to what is going on around you. You may be forced to face up to an issue that you have been trying to ignore. Be proactive, it's unlikely the situation will take care of itself.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Ask someone's permission before taking matters into your own hands. You may assume that loved ones trust your judgment, but they could get upset if you don't keep them in the loop. Stay humble but equal.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Stay on point. It's not useful to pretend that bills will disappear; focus on applying more effort to money making activities to increase your cash flow. Everyone is equally deserving of good things.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Bring your force and charisma fully into the game. Put more enthusiasm and energy into your work and the results can be extraordinary rather than ordinary. Encourage people to work together to produce the desired results.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Rather than focusing on emotional upsets, concentrate on the facts you can see and prove. Make headway by keeping a firm grasp on your current reality without losing sight of your intention and vision for your best life.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You might find yourself in an awkward position. Little you say or do is likely to solve a misunderstanding, so it may be best to mind your own business and remain neutral, Keep plugging away on your own projects.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may not need to look too far outside yourself and your circle to find answers to important questions. Brainstorming sessions could be highly productive and may reveal your precise and intense insights about people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — When you honor your commitments and promises, you maintain people's faith in you. This is not the time to put a questionable spin on a problem or make excuses. If you are frank and sincere, a partner will likely be honest with you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Someone's opposition to your ideas can be a challenge. However, you can apply intelligence and easily handle issues that are hard to pinpoint. Reassure coworkers that you are willing to adjust to unforeseen changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Explore all the options before you change your mind. You may be fast on your feet when your financial resources are at risk. Don't be distracted by flattery and flirtations or requests for charitable donations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You can be what you think you can be. Be confident of success and visualize your most powerfully desired outcomes. Don't let a family squabble or someone's public grievance disturb your inner peace or sense of self.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Apply your skill-set to creative projects that require physical effort or working within a team. Consult someone with a reputation for business expertise to assist you if a financial matter is in question.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Things usually turn out the best for people who make the best of things. Do not nurse a grudge. Talk things over with a loved one or friend and settle misunderstandings before they snowball into something bigger.

Contreras gets ovations, Stroman goes 6, Cubs beat Reds 8-1

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO — Willson Contreras got several standing ovations in what could be his final home game at Wrigley Field, Marcus Stroman threw six scoreless innings and the surging Chicago Cubs won their seventh straight, beating the Cincinnati Reds 8-1 on Sunday.

Nelson Velázquez drove in four runs, helping Chicago match its best run since a seven-game streak late last year. The Cubs, aided by three walks and a hit batter, knocked out a Chase Anderson in a five-run first and cruised to their 11th win in 12 games in their home finale.

The Reds have dropped six straight and 19 of 23. They'll need to sweep a three-game series against the Cubs in Cincinnati to avoid the franchise's second 100-loss season.

Stroman (6-7) gave up five hits, struck out seven and walked two. The right-hander was 3-0 in his final four starts.

Velázquez capped a five-run first with a two-run double against Fernando Cruz and drove in two more with a triple off the right-field wall in the seventh. Seiya Suzuki had two hits and two RBIs.

Anderson (2-4) lasted just seven batters and got one out. The right-hander was tagged for five runs, walked three and gave up two hits. His ERA jumped from 4.70 to 6.56 in seven starts and eight appearances.

Jonathan India singled in a run in the seventh.

Cubs 6, Reds 1 (Friday) — Adrian Sampson threw seven efficient innings, Nico Hoerner drove in three runs and the Chicago Cubs won their fifth straight, 6-1 over the Cincinnati Reds on Friday.

Sampson (4-5) gave up one run on three hits, struck out six and walked two in his 97-pitch outing. He matched his longest start of the season and extended his streak of allowing one run or fewer to five consecutive starts.

He finished his day by getting Mike Siani to ground into a double play, stranding a runner at third.

Hoerner doubled in two runs in the Cubs' three-run second and brought home another run an inning later on a fielder's choice. The Cubs, fresh off a sweep of playoff hopeful Philadelphia, have won nine of 10.

Jake Fraley had three of the Reds' four hits, including his 12th homer in the second. Cincinnati has lost four straight and seven of eight.

Relievers Erich Uelmen and Rowan Wick completed the four-hitter for Chicago. Yan Gomes had two hits and an RBI.

Reds starter Graham Ashcraft (5-5) gave up six runs, five earned, in 2 $^{2}/_{3}$ innings.

Cubs 2, Reds 1 (Saturday) — Seiya Suzuki hit a tiebreaking solo homer in the seventh inning, and the Chicago Cubs beat the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 on Saturday for their sixth straight win.

Suzuki's 14th homer — a two-out drive to left-center against Derek Law (2-3) — was Chicago's first hit since the fourth and the last of three on the day. But the Cubs also had six walks and made the most of a strong performance by their bullpen.

Reds rookie Nick Lodolo pitched five innings of one-run ball. But the left-hander issued a career-high five walks and hit a batter on a windy day at Wrigley Field.

Cubs lefty Drew Smyly allowed one run and four hits in three innings in his first start since Sept. 14.

No. 14 Mississippi beats mistake-prone No. 7 Kentucky 22-19

BY CHRIS BURROWS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

OXFORD, Miss. — Lane Kiffin changed his opinion of his defense after No. 14 Mississippi forced two turnovers in the final three minutes to preserve a 22-19 win over No. 7 Kentucky on Saturday.

"Our guys really showed up, especially in the fourth quarter, getting those two turnovers to win it," Kiffin said. "I had told them at halftime, I didn't think they were very good. At the end, our team found a way to come through."

Even better, Austin Keys and Jared Ivey each created those takeaways inside the red zone. They forced Wildcats quarterback Will Levis to fumble on consecutive possessions with AJ Finley and Tavius Robinson recovering each, respectively.

Both plays stopped potential game-winning drives inside the 20 to preserve the victory for the Rebels (5-0, 1-0 Southeastern Conference).

Jonathan Cruz's go-ahead, 26-yard field goal late in the third quarter put Ole Miss up 22-19 and set the stage for the tense, frantic finish. The Rebels' defense first forced the Wildcats to turn over the ball over on downs early in the fourth before creating the turnovers to seal the win.

"We certainly had our opportunities," Kentucky coach Mark Stoops said. "It came down with two opportunities late in the red zone. We came away with zero."

Levis led Kentucky (4-0, 1-1) to the Ole Miss 18 before fumbling while diving for additional yardage. The Wildcats created a final opportunity on Levis 51-yard pass to Barion Brown to the 7. After a touchdown-nullifying illegal motion penalty, Levis fumbled on the next play on a sack by Ivey with 58 seconds remaining.

"I stayed on my feet, put a move on their tackle, got the bend (angle) and reached out to slap at the ball. After that, it was a blur," Ivey said. "Coach (Kiffin) said I missed four chances in the last game to make a play and it was about time for me to make one."

Henry reigns as Titans hold off Colts for 24-17 victory

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Derrick Henry got right back to business against the Indianapolis Colts.

He took on some defenders by slamming his big body through the line of scrimmage, eluded others in the open field and even turned receptions into key first downs.

Yes, in the matchup of NFL rushing champs Sunday, it was the two-time winner who reigned supreme.

Henry rushed for a season-high 114 yards, scored one touchdown and watched the Tennessee Titans' defense make three late stops to preserve a 24-17 victory.

"Derrick ran hard and I thought the coaches had a really good plan for how we were going to run the football," coach Mike Vrabel said. "It wasn't perfect, but that did look more like our running game."

It was the healthiest the bruising Henry has looked since breaking a bone in his right foot in his previous trip to Indy, an injury that may have cost him a third consecutive rushing crown.

Clearly, Henry wasn't the same in Tennessee's playoff loss last season or in the first three games this season when he averaged 3.4 yards per carry.

Yet the Titans (2-2) followed the familiar script by leaning heavily on Henry early and he delivered with his fifth 100-yard game in the past six games of this series and rode it to a franchise-record four straight against Indy. The Titans are 11-2 against AFC South opponents since 2020.

And once again, all the Colts (1-2-1) could do was try to keep up. Three turnovers and the three missed scoring chances over the final 16 minutes were just too much to overcome. The Colts have one win in their past six games.

"We feel like we're seeing some things we want to see," Colts coach Frank Reich said. "But in the end we need to play better, we need to execute better, we need to stop turning the ball over, we need to start getting turnovers, we need to run the football a little bit better and start faster."

Finding a way to keep Henry in check might help, too. He needed less than two quarters to top 100 yards and stake the Titans to a 24-3 lead.

Ryan Tannehill took advantage of the first turnover, Matt Ryan's eighth fumble of the season, with a 7-yard TD pass to Robert Woods. Henry extended the margin by making Brandon Facyson miss in the backfield and sprinting 19 yards for the score. After the teams traded field goals, Tannehill hooked up with Chig Okonkwo on an 8-yard TD pass.

Ryan finally answered with a 14-yard TD pass to Mo Alie-Cox late in the first half and a scoring pass to Alie-Cox to cut the deficit to 24-17 midway through the third quarter.

Then the Titans defense stiffened — sacking Ryan to knock Indy out of field-goal range, recovering Jonathan Taylor's fumble on another third down near its 20-yard line and watching Chase McLaughlin's 51-yard field goal sail wide left with 1:58 to play.

"That's what you have to do, find ways to win," Vrabel said. "We came up with some huge stops defensively when, maybe, we were not at our best. They kept fighting and competing."

STAT PACK

Titans: Tannehill was 17 of 21 with 137 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions. He was sacked three times. ... Defensive lineman Denico Autry had two sacks and forced one fumble against his former team. ... Henry also caught three passes for 33 as Tennessee improved to 25-1 when he has at least 25 touches. ... Coach Mike Vrabel won his 45th game and passed Jack Pardee for third on the franchise's career list.

Colts: Taylor had 20 carries for 42 yards before leaving the game. ... Ryan wound up 27 of 37 with 356 yards, two TD passes and one interception. ... Alie-Cox had six catches for 85 yards and had the first multi-TD game of his career. ... Receiver Alec Pierce had four receptions for 80 yards. ... Indy's defense allowed 77.0 yards rushing in the first three weeks.

INJURY REPORT

Titans: Linebacker Bud Dupree returned from a hip injury but reinjured the hip during the first half and rookie receiver Treylon Burks did not return after being carted to the locker room in the second half with a right foot injury.

Colts: Three-time All-Pro linebacker Shaquille Leonard's season debut was brief. In the second quarter, Leonard collided with a teammate near the goal and was helped immediately from the field to the locker room where he was diagnosed with a concussion. Taylor, last year's rushing champ, left late with an injured ankle.

HE SAID IT

"I'm sure he's upset," Titans safety Kevin Byard said, referring to Colts owner Jim Irsay. "We've been able to win the division the past couple years, so he understands the division is going to go through the Colts and the Titans. I'm sure he wanted to get the win, but we had to get this 'W.' "

UP NEXT

Titans: Head to Washington next Sunday.

Colts: Visit Denver on Thursday night.

Colts' Matt Ryan on pace to shatter season fumble record

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Matt Ryan came to Indianapolis to win games, maybe even a championship.

Four weeks into the season, it all seems to be slipping through Ryan's figures — literally.

Ryan fumbled twice in a 24-17 loss to rival Tennessee on Sunday, giving the 15-year veteran nine fumbles in four games. That puts him on pace for 38 fumbles this season, which would easily surpass the NFL record of 23 set by Kerry Collins in 2001 and matched by Daunte Culpepper in 2002.

The 37-year-old Ryan also threw his fifth interception and was sacked three times. He's as upset as anyone in the Colts locker room with the plight of 1-2-1 Indianapolis.

"I think you've just got to protect it better," the 2016 NFL MVP said. "It's a very uncharacteristic four-game stretch for me. It's something I've got to clean up and get better at. If we can put together a clean game, I think we can be very good."

So far it's not been good, and not just for Ryan, acquired from Atlanta in the offseason after 14 years with the Falcons.

While the Colts running game has ground to a halt, Indy's pass protection has been less than adequate and slow starts have become the norm.

Ryan's ability to keep two hands on the ball has been the biggest disappointment.

With 13 games left, Ryan is three short of matching his worst season fumble total. He's lost three of those fumbles, two shy of his career worst.

Colts coach Frank Reich knows his team can't keep giving away the ball — and scoring chances like they did Sunday — and make the playoffs. So something must change.

"I'm not going to sit here and point fingers at Matt or anybody else on the turnovers," Reich said. "Sometimes, they're on your quarterback, sometimes there's a little bit more to it than that. But we look at it, we judge each one. We've just got to get better at it."

The Colts don't believe things can get much worse.

One year after sharing the league lead for best turnover margin (plus-14), the Colts head to Denver on Thursday night with a minus-6 margin, near the bottom of the pack.

But because the Colts have been so unproductive with their moderate and deep throws, opponents have stacked line of scrimmage with extra defenders while waiting for Ryan or someone else to make a mistake. That seemed to be the game plan for Tennessee (2-2), too.

"Our guys were tough up front," Titans coach Mike Vrabel said. "There weren't a whole lot of seams. We know how talented he is and we know what he can do when he hits those seams. I give our guys a lot of credit."

Tennessee, like Houston, Jacksonville and Kansas City in previous weeks, took full advantage by hounding and harassing Ryan into miscues.

The result Sunday: Ryan had one snap bounce off his hands — initially ruled a fumble and then changed — lost another ball when he was hit while winding up to throw and fumbled again when he couldn't quite tuck the ball away on a sack.

"It's just one of those things where as you're getting ready to pull it and they're in the right place at the right time," he said of one play Sunday. "You have to trust other players to get the job done but, on the other hand, the ball is in my hand every snap, so it starts with me."

NFL's handling of concussions questioned after Tua's injury

BY ROB MAADDI
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

The NFL's handling of concussions has evolved dramatically from the days when players were given smelling salts on the bench and sent back into the game.

The league and the NFL Players Association have implemented extensive protocols and hired unaffiliated neurotrauma consultants (UNC) to work with team physicians at each game to diagnose concussions.

Still, football is a violent sport and injuries similar to the frightening one Miami Dolphins quarterback Tua Tagovailoa suffered Thursday night seem unavoidable unless the NFL bans tackling and turns the game into flag football like it did for the Pro Bowl.

That's not happening, and the most effective means of protecting players remains enforcing strict concussion protocols, which players, fans and others are concerned didn't happen with Tagovailoa.

It would be difficult to prevent what happened to Tagovailoa when 6-foot-3, 340-pound Bengals defensive tackle Josh Tupou slammed him backward into the turf. The main question is why he was even playing just four days after he stumbled off the field and was unable to walk following a hit to his head during a home game against Buffalo.

Tagovailoa's hands froze up and his fingers flexed awkwardly in front of his facemask for several seconds as he laid on the turf in Cincinnati, a scary scene witnessed by millions of viewers. He remained on the ground for several minutes until he was taken away on a stretcher and sent to a hospital.

This time — unlike Sunday when he seemed to exhibit concussion symptoms but was cleared by a team physician and UNC to return — Tagovailoa was diagnosed with a concussion. He was released from the hospital and flew home with the team. Flying hours after suffering a concussion raised questions, but NFL chief medical officer Dr. Allen Sills said the hospital makes that decision.

Tagovailoa's quick return Sunday prompted a joint review by the NFL and NFLPA. The interview process has started and results aren't expected for at least another week. Tagovailoa and the team explained his legs were wobbly because of a back injury.

It's unknown whether there's any correlation between the two incidents. Concussions are common in the NFL, especially when a player is thrown to the ground by a man Tupou's size and his head hits the turf.

Sills said "it's impossible to know" if the injury Tagovailoa sustained Thursday was exacerbated by the hit he took Sunday.

"That's one of the factors that we want to look at," Sills said on NFL Network. "Every injury is one we want to prevent."

Chris Nowinski, a founder of the Concussion Legacy Foundation who played football at Harvard, is adamant Tagovailoa sustained a concussion against Buffalo and shouldn't have played at Cincinnati.

"Tua showed five distinct signs of concussion," Nowinski told The Associated Press. "Anybody who has any training on concussions or cares about Tua as a human is not putting him on field four days after what he showed on Sunday, so this makes it so much worse because we know that this could be career-ending or season-ending. It should be season-ending, in my opinion. And it just shows just a lack of care for him as a human being."

Tide retakes No. 1 from UGA; Kansas snaps drought

UK drops to No. 13 after road loss

Alabama reclaimed No. 1 from Georgia in The Associated Press college football poll in one of the closest votes in the recent years, and six teams — including Kansas — made their season debut on Sunday.

The Crimson Tide received 25 first-place votes and 1,523 points in the AP Top 25 presented by Regions Bank, two points more than the Bulldogs. Georgia received 28 first-place votes to become the first team since Alabama in November 2019 to have the most first-place votes but not be No. 1.

The Tide was No. 2 behind LSU that year, with 21 first-place votes to the Tigers' 17.

The last time there was a two-point margin between Nos. 1 and 2 was Nov. 1, 2020, when Clemson was ahead of Alabama. There have been three other polls with a two-point margin at the top since 2007.

Ohio State remained third, but the Buckeyes also gained some ground on the top two, getting 10 first-place votes.

The Crimson Tide started the season at No. 1, but the defending national champion Bulldogs took the top spot away from their Southeastern Conference rivals after Week 2 when Alabama needed a late field goal to beat Texas.

The Bulldogs remain unbeaten but needed a fourth-quarter rally to beat four-touchdown underdog Missouri on Saturday night. Earlier in the day, the Tide managed to pull away from Arkansas in the second half without Heisman Trophy winner Bryce Young.

Young sprained his throwing shoulder in the first half and missed most of the game in Fayetteville, Arkansas.

No. 4 Michigan, No. 5 Clemson and No. 6 Southern California all won and held their places this week, though the Wolverines and Tigers are now separated by just three points.

Kentucky (4-1) dropped six spots from No. 7 to No. 13 after a 22-19 road loss to then No. 14 Mississippi (5-0).

Oklahoma State moved into No. 7 followed by Tennessee, Mississippi and Penn State to round out the top 10.

The rest of the AP Top 25 got a major overhaul after 10 ranked teams lost, five to unranked opponents. That cleared the way for seven teams to move into the rankings this week, most notably No. 19 Kansas.

The Jayhawks are ranked for the first time since Oct. 18, 2009, which was the longest drought for a team currently in a Power Five conference.

POLL POINTS

The closest margin between Nos. 1 and 2 in AP poll history is zero. Oklahoma and Miami tied for No. 1 in the 2002 preseason poll, and Miami and Washington shared the top spot in mid-October 1992.

The last time there was a one-point margin between the top two teams was 1992, when the Hurricanes and Huskies were separated by a point in the weeks before and after they were tied.

With Kansas back in the rankings, the longest poll appearance drought belongs to Illinois, which was last ranked in 2011. And the Illini have positioned themselves to make the leap with a 4-1 start heading into their home game against Iowa next week.

Next up on the list is Rutgers (2012), Oregon State (preseason 2013) and Vanderbilt (final 2013).

IN

The voters generally decided to start from scratch at the back half of the rankings, flipping seven teams.

- No. 17 TCU is in the rankings for the first time since a brief stay in 2019 at 25th.
- No. 18 UCLA is off to its first 5-0 start since 2013.
- No. 19 Kansas stayed unbeaten by knocking off Iowa State. The Jayhawks last started 5-0 in that 2009 season, then proceeded to drop their next six games and fall to the bottom of major college football for more than a decade.

Both Kansas schools are ranked for the first time since Oct. 14, 2007.

- No. 22 Syracuse improved to 5-0 with an easy victory against Wagner and finally cracked the rankings. The Orange are ranked for the first time since early in the 2019 season.
- No. 23 Mississippi State has been ranked for only one week (after the first regular-season game of 2020) since the end of 2018 season.

Both Mississippi SEC schools are ranked for the first time since Nov. 11, 2015.

- No. 24 Cincinnati. The Bearcats are the one team to enter the rankings this week that already had been in this season. Cincinnati fell out after a Week 1 loss at Arkansas and has won four straight since.
- No. 25 LSU has its first ranking under coach Brian Kelly. The Tigers have won four straight, including two SEC games, since losing a heartbreaker to Florida State on Labor Day weekend.

OUT

Among the seven teams to drop out of the AP Top 25, five of them will be unranked for the first time this season: Oklahoma, Baylor, Arkansas, Texas A&M and Pittsburgh.

Florida State and Minnesota had brief stays in the AP Top 25. The Seminoles and Gophers were teams on the rise for a week and then both lost at home.

CONFERENCE CALL

- SEC — 7 (Nos. 1, 2, 8, 9, 13, 23, 25).
